Hello Everyone,

The timeline for the basin planning process follows, please let me know if you should have any concerns:

	Start date	days remaining	End date
RPC and NRCDD review	Friday, April 20, 2018	94	Monday, July 23, 2018
Partners review	Monday, May 21, 2018	63	Monday, July 23, 2018

Public draft/comment period	Friday, September 21, 2018	40	Wednesday, October 31, 2018
Public meetings	Friday, September 21, 2018	24	Monday, October 15, 2018
ANR signature	Wednesday, November 7, 2018	8	Thursday, November 15, 2018

Over the summer, I have meetings planned with partners and RPC committees. I plan to work closely with the CVRPC CWAC and am quite willing to attend CCRPC CWAC meetings or others as would be useful.

I plan to share drafts on the following dates:

- June 8 (will include all RPC's initial comments by then),
- August 1, (will include partner input and any additions based on cross walk)
- August 28 (RPC draft for committee review),

- September 21 (public draft),
- Middle of November – signed basin plan

In addition to the initial comments that the RPCs provided at the end of March, I would like to know which towns would be interested in assistance in revision of municipal protections, for what and when. The Friends of the Mad River and perhaps other groups may be interested in helping to provide education to communities about the resource their town is considering for increased protection.

I think that's it for now.

I am planning to provide a more extensive update when I release the June 8th draft.

Please feel free to call with any questions. Enjoy your long weekend.

Karen
